How 911Cellular Works

Just press your device's button or swipe right, and instantly send an alert with your precise location.

Responders can view your alert, location, security camera feeds, and situational information in seconds.

Responders can also instantly access relevant emergency procedures and workflows from the app.

You can also set and start safety timers with real-time updates and notifications for responders.

You can configure and manage it all digitally, with settings to match your unique needs and preferences.

Custom Configuration for Your Specific Needs

- Customize alerts and emergency workflows based on incident types and locations.
- Support an unlimited number of incident types and locations with complete customization.
- Configure alerts by text, phone, email, app alert, screen takeover, social media, and CAP alerts.
- Create safety maps with dropped pins and color coding to reflect key locations and reference points.
- Integrate it with your security camera feeds, IDs, and systems for real-time video access.
- Upload emergency procedures, policies and documents for instant digital access via the app.
- Provide it all in one place, matched to your security needs, policies and procedures.

Developed by Law Enforcement and Emergency Response Experts

911Cellular was founded by CEO Chad Salahshour, a former police officer who combined his public safety and computer programming experience to create better emergency communication tools for today's real-world security needs, including the following:

- Workplace violence
- Active shooter situations
- Alyssa's Law compliance
- OSHA compliance
- Spills and accidents
- Weather emergencies
- Public safety
- Natural disasters
